Tales from Outside

Selected Works for Flute, Clarinet, and Piano

This album is a journey through landscapes, memories, and sudden shifts in atmosphere. Performed by the exceptional Gianluca Nicolini on flute and Valeria Serangeli on clarinet, these compositions explore the dialogue between the natural world and human experience.

Tracklist & Inspiration

- Nature's Mood Turns on a Dime Inspiration: A mountain landscape transformed by a sudden, fleeting storm.
 - Climbing Inspiration: The rhythmic and steady pace of a walk through the mountains.
 - Whistling Workers Inspiration: Based on a lighthearted melody whistled by a laborer at work.
 - Little Birds Inspiration: A delicate musical portrait of small birds in flight.
 - Street Dancer Inspiration: Capturing the energy and movement of a dancer in an urban setting.
 - Down by the Salley Gardens Inspiration: A lyrical homage to the timeless imagery of the famous poem.
 - Unearth the Hidden Inspiration: Fragments of the past emerging like ancient stones from the earth.
 - Springing Inspiration: The vibrant, upward energy of life beginning anew.

The Performers

Gianluca Nicolini (Flute) A distinguished flutist and Professor of Wind Chamber Music at the "Antonio Vivaldi" Conservatory in Alessandria, Gianluca Nicolini brings a vibrant and nuanced voice to this project. His deep technical mastery and academic expertise capture the subtle shifts of the natural world, from the delicate flight of "Little Birds" to the sudden intensity of a mountain storm.

Valeria Serangeli (Clarinet) With her lyrical phrasing and rich tone, Valeria Serangeli is one of the most compelling voices on the clarinet today. Currently serving as the Principal Clarinet of the Teatro Carlo Felice in Genoa, her performance in Tales from Outside weaves seamlessly with the flute and piano, adding warmth and a profound narrative character to these musical landscapes.
